Call for Presenters

Looking for inspiration to deal with the challenging times in which we're living? Then this year's NAI Heartland Region workshop is the answer! Join us in Austin, Minnesota in April 2018 as we motivate and inspire you to see the positive in our world.

We are looking for presenters excited to share their expertise and enthusiasm through presentations that will show us how to spark positive actions at our sites and in our visitors.

Presentation Topics can be about natural and cultural history, programs, communication, administration, inclusivity, or technology and social media.

Your presentation will be accepted based on its relevance and its potential to stimulate and educate participants, its originality, and the clarity of the topic, content, and presentation method.

Submissions are due by January 12, 2018.

You will be notified by February 12, 2018
if your presentation has been chosen.
